Dear Florence,

Just a note to let you know
I am thinking of you.
I've been though what you are going through right now.
No one reader stands till they have been there.
Here is something for you to read. I cut it out of the paper one time. So sent it to my son in San Diego, and he typed it for me to send to you.
God Bless you.

Just a word of remembrance with a meaning deep and true sent to show that someone's thoughts
are here today—with you!

Love,

I'll call
you sometime.

FUNERALS ARE FOR THE LIVING

The funeral service is for the living because it enables family and friends to gather to express their feelings.

It's a time to pay tribute, reflect on memories, gain strength from others and begin to accept one of life's many changes. A funeral service lets you and those close to you say goodbye and begin the healing process.

Your presence at this funeral is of immeasurable value. You're contributing to a fellowship of support extended to the family and relatives. For them, your attendance is comforting and reassuring. They know that you care and want to acknowledge the life that was lived. By being here, you're helping to make this service a memorable one.

*The Lord is my shepherd,
I shall not want.*

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul; he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

*Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for thou art with me;
thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.*

*Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies;
thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.*

One or the other must stay.
One or the other must grieve,
That is forever the way.
That is the vow that was sworn,
Faithful 'til death do us part.
Braving what had to be borne,
Hiding the ache in the heart.
One, howsoever adored,
First must be summoned away.
That is the will of the Lord
One or the other must stay.

FURTHER PROVISIONS

1. SELECTION OF PLOT/CRYPT. Not later than thirty (30) days from the date hereof, Seller shall designate a plot/crypt (s) in the Garden/Building herein identified, containing the number of spaces indicated. If a plot/crypt designated hereunder is needed for interment or entombment before the construction of the Garden/Building containing the same is sufficiently completed, Buyer shall transfer to a comparable selection in a completed Garden/Building, which shall be provided by Seller without extra cost, if available; and if a comparable selection is unavailable, Seller will provide temporary interment/entombment until completion of the designated plot/crypt.

2. CONVEYANCE OF INTERMENT RIGHTS. Upon full payment by Buyer of all sums due hereunder, the Seller shall convey unto the Buyer by appropriate deed any interment/entombment rights specified, free and clear of lien or encumbrance, and subject always to the duty of the Buyer to comply with the Rules and Regulations hereinafter more particularly identified. In the event of the need of a space before full payment, the Buyer shall be entitled to receive a conveyance of interment/entombment rights with respect to a single space in the selected plot/crypt for the burial, upon payment of the portion of the total price applicable to such space; provided the designated crypt is not a family or double depth crypt. If the designated crypt is a family or double depth crypt, Buyer must pay the full purchase price prior to conveyance of entombment rights or select side by side crypts at no additional cost per crypt and pay the full purchase price applicable to the crypt to be conveyed for immediate entombment. Buyer shall have no interment/entombment rights hereunder unless and until the same are conveyed as aforesaid by the Seller.

3. COMPLIANCE WITH RULES AND REGULATIONS. Buyer shall comply at all times with all Rules and Regulations now existing or hereafter adopted by the Seller for the use, care, control, management, restriction and protection of the cemetery. Buyer understands that such Rules and Regulations are maintained subject to inspection and copy at the office of the Seller, and that they may be amended or repealed by the Seller without notice to the Buyer. Buyer also understands that an additional interment/entombment charge will be made for the opening and closing of plots/crypts, according to charges then prevailing, as included in the aforesaid schedule, and that this Agreement DOES NOT INCLUDE any such charges.

4. FUND FOR PERFORMANCE. In order to assure the performance by the Seller of its obligation to deliver any items of goods or services enumerated, for which delivery is not to take place within 12 months of the final payment date, Seller will set aside in a bank trust fund, separate and apart from its other funds, all payments received to pay for the goods or services when delivery is performed. The income therefrom shall be payable to the Seller and may be used by it as its Board of Directors may determine.

5. TRANSFER AND REMOVAL. In the event the Buyer should desire to remove any installed memorial to some other place within the limits of the continental United States, upon written request of Buyer the Seller will cause such memorial to be suitably prepared for shipment at the expense of the Buyer. In the event of such removal, installation costs previously paid and all deposits to the Memorial Care Fund with respect to the items removed shall be retained and shall not be refunded to Buyer.

6. DEFAULT. Time is of the essence of this Agreement, and in the case of default by Buyer for more than thirty (30) days in any payment, the Seller shall have the option to cancel this Agreement by written notice to Buyer and to retain all sums paid hereunder as liquidated damages, to the extent permitted by law. No delay on the part of the Seller in exercising such option shall operate as a waiver thereof, or preclude the exercise thereof at any time during the continuance of a default or in the event of a subsequent default.

7. COVENANTS EXCLUSIVE. This Agreement contains all the covenants between the parties, and no agent or representative of either party has authority to modify, add to or change any of the terms or conditions herein set forth, or the terms or conditions of any receipt issued for payments. Buyer certifies that no oral or written statements, promises, representations or guarantees other than those contained herein have been made in relation to this Agreement.

8. EXTENT OF COVENANTS. This Agreement shall become effective when executed for and on behalf of the Seller by a duly authorized official thereof, and thereupon the covenants herein contained shall extend to and be binding upon the heirs, executors, administrators, successors and assigns of the parties. In the event this Agreement is executed by more than one person as Buyer, the singular shall include the plural, and each shall be jointly and severally entitled to and bound by all covenants.

9. UNDEVELOPED LOCATION - CONSTRUCTION. Within ninety (90) days after eighty-five percent (85%) of the crypts in the section are sold, Seller will commence the construction of the section of the mausoleum/garden memorial crypts in which the aforesaid crypt or crypts shall be located and will complete such construction within three (3) years thereafter, subject, however, to delays caused by war, riot, insurrection, acts of God, or by any other cause beyond the control of the Seller, in which event Seller will complete construction within such time as shall be reasonably possible. Construction shall be according to plans and specifications which shall be maintained subject to inspection at the office of the Seller.

10. TIME OF PERFORMANCE. Performance of any services purchased hereunder will be accomplished during normal business hours on Monday through Friday. Any services required to be performed at other times, including Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, will incur an additional charge according to a schedule on file in the office of the Seller.

11. RIGHTS AND POSSESSION. Seller shall retain title to and possession of the interment/entombment rights and the merchandise, and Buyer shall have no possession or rights or claims to such interment/entombment rights or merchandise until the entire Purchase Price is paid in full. In the event of a death prior to payment in full, delivery of merchandise and services will be reduced to the extent of funds actually received at the time delivery is to be made. When the Purchase Price has been paid in full, Seller guarantees conveyance of the interment/entombment rights and delivery of all merchandise and services.

12. REPRESENTATION AS TO AGENT. By the acceptance of this AGREEMENT, Seller represents that it is responsible and liable for the veracity and competency of the Agent in whose presence the Buyer executed this Agreement.

13. PREPAYMENT. In the event of prepayment in full, including prepayment on acceleration, the unearned portion of the finance charge will be repaid, computed by multiplying the finance charge by a fraction of which the numerator is a sum of the periodic balances scheduled to follow the computational period in which prepayment occurs, and the denominator is the sum of all periodic balances under this Agreement.

14. CARE FUNDS. Seller shall deposit 50% of the amount herein designated in a Memorial Care Fund, the income therefrom to be used for the care and maintenance of memorials installed in the cemetery. The remaining 50% shall be used for early care within three (3) years of installation. The Seller shall provide for the care and maintenance of markers or memorials installed in the cemetery. The Memorial Care Fund is to be used for the care of the area around the memorial or used to reinstall a memorial if necessary. This fund does not cover the refinishing of a memorial. Should you wish to have this done, the charge for this service is available at the office of the Seller. Upon full payment of all sums due hereunder, Seller will set aside and deposit in a Perpetual Care Fund a sum not less than the amount required by law. Said Fund shall be maintained and the income thereof shall be used for the perpetual care of the cemetery, as required by the laws of the State in which the cemetery is located.

15. DELIVERY OF MEMORIALS. Within twelve months after final payment is received, Seller shall order and store the memorial on Seller's premises. If in the case of war, riot, act of insurrection, act of God, or for any cause beyond the control of Seller, it should be impossible to deliver any enumerated bronzed item, the Buyer, his heirs, or assigns, will accept delivery as soon as it shall be reasonably possible for the Seller to make same in accordance with this Agreement or will accept a memorial made of available materials. Storage of memorials by Seller constitutes delivery.

16. OPTION TO DESIGNATE SUCCESSOR SELLERS. With respect to merchandise not delivered hereunder, Buyer shall have the option to designate one (1) or more successor sellers to provide preneed merchandise. In such event Buyer shall give written notice of the designation to the Seller, the successor, and the trustee, if applicable. Seller shall transfer to the successor the contract and all property being held as consideration for the contract for such undelivered merchandise. Seller may elect to charge a successor seller a transfer fee not to exceed five percent (5%) of the contract price therefor.

17. INSCRIPTION OF MAUSOLEUM CRYPTS. Buyer further understands that the established principles and plans of the Seller require that the mausoleum crypts may be inscribed and identified only in such manner and according to such design as approved by the Seller, and upon payment therefor according to a schedule of charges maintained subject to inspection and copy at the office of the Seller, and that this Agreement does not include any such charges unless such charges are separately itemized and added to the Purchase Price on the reverse side of this Agreement.

18. TRANSFER OF INTERMENT/ENTOMBMENT RIGHTS. No transfer of any right or interest of the Buyer hereunder or of any interment/entombment rights conveyed to the Buyer pursuant to this Agreement shall be valid without the written consent of the Seller, and unless a proper instrument of transfer or designation is recorded in the offices of the Seller.

WORKERS OF AMERICA - UAW

Ron Gettelfinger, Director
Region 3 UAW

Greetings,

The next meeting of Chapter 57 will be Wednesday, October 2, 1996 at the UAW Recreation Center, 3921-1/2 Horman Road (US 27 South, 1 mile south of I-469). IMPORTANT: This one, by membership action, will be a catered meal, Roast Pork with all the trimmings. It will be an opportunity for those who take so much of their time to fix such great dishes for our potlucks to get a break, leave the extra work behind, and just come and enjoy a good meal prepared by Choreusli's catering of Kokomo. The cost per person, by membership vote, is only $4 each, with the Chapter picking up the difference. Plan to come and enjoy the good food with good friends! No need to send money now, as all will pay at the door.

We eat promptly at noon. The meeting starts at 1 PM with reports from the officers, a presentation from one of the agencies, and a Bingo game at the end.

NOW, FOR THE REST OF THE STORY!

The Day, Wednesday, October 2, will commence with services for you at 9 AM. It is a Health Fair Program for our retirees, ending at 12 PM. It is important that you read all the information presented below if you plan to participate.

 COMPLETE BLOOD WORK (cholesterol screening, sugar, etc.) - NO CHARGE with the showing of your Medicare Card; $15 for those without Medicare coverage. IMPORTANT: to take this test, you must fast for 12 hours prior to the test. The test is provided by the Neighborhood Health Clinic, a United Way Agency.

 FLU SHOTS - NO CHARGE with the showing of your Medicare Card; $5 for those without Medicare coverage. This service is also provided by the Neighborhood Health Clinic.

 BLOOD PRESSURE - NO CHARGE. This is provided by the Visiting Nurse and Hospice, another United Way Agency.

 GENERAL HEALTH INFO - provided by the Allen County Council on Aging, a United Way Agency.

As you can see, this is a good program, but we need to have your COOPERATION. If you did not sign up for this service at the September meeting, you need to call our office immediately at 219-422-0873, so we can tell the agencies how many are coming. This way they can have the right amount of personnel on hand, and know how much material to bring. If you are taking the Complete Blood Work test, do not forget to fast for 12 hours prior to coming in. Remember: the Health Fair starts at 9 AM and, most importantly, don't forget to bring your Medicare card with you!

RECAP OF SEPTEMBER MEETING

The September meeting was held in conjunction with the 4th Area Retiree's Council Annual Picnic. We had an excellent meal, and plenty of it! For speakers, we had some of the candidates on the Democratic ticket who are running in the 4th Congressional District of Indiana. Leading the speakers was Jerry Houseman, vying for the office of US Congress. He gave his presentation on his stand for the American working family and his relations with organized labor. He also spoke on his understanding of the problems facing retirees, and his commitment not to touch Medicare, Medicaid, or Social Security.

Other UAW endorsed candidates who gave short, but effective, presentations were: Ben GiaQuinta, 80th District; Winfield Moses, 81st District; Russell Strunk, 82nd District; Rusty York, 83rd District; Rob Sturtz, 84th District; Allen County 1st District, Bruce Rosswurm; County Council at Large, Alan Diefenbach; and finally, the Chairman of the Allen County Democratic Party, Brian Stier.

From the Region, we had a presentation from International Representative Leroy Brown and a great speech from our own

Dear Mrs. Springer,

As we discussed on the phone today I did retrieve, from Parkview Hospital, some information and faxes concerning Warren's visit to the emergency room there on 8/15/96.

Enclosed you will find a copy of his chest x-ray which indicates the presence of bibasilar infiltrates very likely from aspiration pneumonia. I think the terminal event here was aspiration as judged both by the x-ray and from what was described to me by emergency room doctor who reported retrieving a lot of material from his tracheal tree.

As we discussed both the chemical pneumonitis set up at that point as well as not all the food can be aspirated and even though he may appear to have clinical improvement a chemical pneumonitis is an ongoing progressive process. He also was given IV antibiotics. In addition he received a KUB of the abdomen, which is enclosed, which showed that he had an ileus; this is where the bowel simply does not work or pump and therefore it becomes dilated and the abdomen becomes distended.

I believe that this all, hopefully, clarifies the issues that you have. If I can be of further service please do not hesitate to let me know.

Respectfully,

Steven C. Meyer, M.D.

Seminary President to Preach at Trinity

Dr. Anderson

We are privileged to welcome Dr. Dennis A. Anderson, President of Trinity Lutheran Seminary, to Trinity Church on Sunday, October 13. He will preach at the 9:00 and 11:00 a.m. worship services and lead a Church Council Retreat that afternoon at the church.

Known as one of the outstanding preachers and presenters of the Lutheran Church, Dr. Anderson is the author of various religious magazine articles and three books and has been a member of many church-wide and synodical agencies and committees, including the ELCA Church Council.

Trinity Church has been supportive of and closely related to both Trinity Lutheran Seminary and the Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago, and both schools were included in our 150th anniversary capital gifts venture.

Dr. Anderson is a graduate of Gustavus Adolphus College and the Lutheran School of Theology at Chicago. His pastoral ministry includes being a mission developer, parish pastor, and secretary for the LCA Board of Missions before being elected bishop of the Nebraska Synod of both the LCA and ELCA where he served for twelve years before assuming the presidency of Trinity Lutheran Seminary.

First Sunday Forums Educate, Challenge

Martin Luther King, Jr., is said to have noted that Sunday morning at 11:00 a.m. is the most segregated hour in America. And, by and large, American Christians continue in "separate but equal" ways -- even in Fort Wayne.

Most recently, national reminders of separateness have come in the form of the burning of "black" churches. Citizen Christians of varied hues and ethnic origins have been appalled by the resurgence of the specter of racial, ethnic, and religious intolerances.

Jesus Christ calls believers to "love one another." Christians have a high and ultimate stake in thinking and living in this way with and for one another.

The 1996-97 First Sunday Forum series provides varied and practical ways to explore current trends, discoveries, and issues of the day. The forum theme for the year, "The Christian Stake in..." will address matters of current and lasting importance to

Pastor Cress

The temperatures have dropped at night to a cool 45 degrees. The football season means sweater weather. Sitting at home during the chilly evenings, reading a good book, enjoying stimulating conversation, or watching an interesting TV. program, we feel comfortable. We are in familiar surroundings, with the necessities (usually more than the necessities) of life. We feel comfortable. There is comfort zone around us. We like to be comfortable.

What about our spiritual lives? Are we comfortable? Comfort does not mean that the situation will never change. Comfort does not, in this case, I trust, indicate a complacency. It does mean trust, understanding, and a good feeling. Comfort allows for change and renewal, within limits, limits that are understood and accepted.

Often people seek a church with people who are much like themselves. Worship is often an accepting, stimulating, affirming, and an inspirational time. The programs at church provide insight, promote camaraderie, challenge the thought processes, and affirm Christian values. The pastors and staff provide openings for spiritual and personal growth; for the use of time, talents, and treasures for the church and for the community — local and worldwide; for opportunities for discussion and counselling.

In all of these situations, there is an element of comfort. Comfort to know that we are here for each other, in worship, programs, education. There is comfort to know that we are here for each other in private and public gatherings.

It is good to remember that this comfort is not just because of a cozy, warm fire at home. Nor is it just because of meaningful worship, education, programs, or personal contacts. Our spiritual comfort zone takes in all of these areas, but reaches far beyond us. Our comfort zone in our spiritual

"U-Haul" Project Successful!

Thanks to all from South Dakota ...

Early on the morning of August 16, Dianne and Leon Giannakeff departed Fort Wayne for the Pine Ridge Indian Reservation in Pine Ridge, South Dakota. They had originally planned to take a U-Haul trailer filled with donated items given by Trinity to help the Lakota Indians on the reservation. However, by the time the Family of Trinity was finished, the U-Haul had become -- of necessity -- a Ryder TRUCK!

With Dianne's car in tow behind the truck and with Leon behind the wheel of the Ryder which was almost filled to the top with bedding, school supplies, toiletries, a drier, a stove, two microwaves, a sewing machine, and an electric organ,

The Giannakeffs arrive at the church.

The two arrived at Holy Cross Church at Pine Ridge Reservation on Saturday afternoon.

They were greeted by Pastor Larry Peterson, an ELCA pastor who shares a joint ministry at the church and adjoining retreat center with Episcopalian Pastor Ben Tyon. After unloading most of the items and storing them in the basement of the church, the trio took the stove and one of the microwaves to the fellowship hall which Trinity Youth helped to renovate last summer.

Pastors Peterson and Tyon were overwhelmed with the outpouring of gifts, and Larry sent this letter of thanks to all the Trinity members who helped:

"My deepest thanks to the ... members of Trinity for the wonderful "truck load" of gifts you brought to Pine Ridge. We are all excited and looking forward to Rally Day, September 22. On that day, Sunday School will begin for the 1996-97 school year.

"An important part of Lakota culture is the 'give-away.' It is done to honor people or, in the case of people who have died, to honor their memory.

"On Rally Day we are going to use your gifts for our church give-away to honor the Sunday School children, their parents, and grandparents. We look forward to it being a GREAT day. Thanks to all of you for making it possible!"

Calling All K-6th Graders:

"Check This Out!"

Exciting enrichment takes place for three- to five-year-olds, first through third, and fourth through sixth graders during the Sunday 10:00 a.m. Education Hour. (See page nine for their locations.)

Janet Altmeyer has a hard-working staff to run this program, and attendance is up!

Each month has a theme that guides the activity of the day. In September the older groups were challenged to grow spiritually through a variety of biblically based games.

The fourth through sixth grade "Steeple People" busily researched people, places, objects and things in order to prepare a Scriptural Jeopardy Board.

On the last September Sunday these "Steeplers" presented their efforts a la Jeopardy Show-style for the Dixie Cup participants.

Janet needs some magazines with pictures that young children can relate to as they create their own magazine, scraps of silk and satins for making a banner, and one or two people for a specific small task.

Please leave items with Sally in the Education Office and speak with her if you can help!

Plan to Attend ... Service of the Word for Healing

The next Service of the Word for Healing is Sunday, October 20, at 10:15 a.m. in Krauss Chapel.

This Sunday is closest to St. Luke's Day and is a designated day of prayer for all who are in need of healing -- physical, spiritual, and emotional.

The service will last fifteen to twenty minutes and will include prayers and intercessions for those suffering pain, grief, or loss. It will also offer the optional laying on of hands.

Plan to attend for yourself or a loved one.

Enneagram Workshop at Trinity This Month

The Enneagram (pronounced any-ah-gram) is a personality theory which groups human emotions and behavior into nine personality types. While other personality typing systems focus on behavior, the Enneagram deals with the subconscious motivation of each type. The theory is gaining nation-wide attention as the following quotes from the September 12, 1994, issue of Newsweek indicate: (At) "the First International Enneagram Conference, . . . 1,400 participants . . . came to Palo Alto, California, from as far away as Japan. (The Conference was sponsored by Stanford University School of Business and co-sponsored by Stanford Medical School's department of psychiatry.)

"The CIA now uses the Enneagram to help agents understand the behavior of individual world leaders. The U.S. Postal Service recently turned to the Enneagram to help employees resolve conflicts."

Since 1989, Trinity has offered both the enneagram:Basics™ workshop and various advanced workshops. 250 members of Trinity and 250 constituent members (i.e. people who are not Trinity members) have attended an enneagram:BASICS™ workshop.

Pastor Hamlin, Janet Hartzell, Darlene Yarnelle will present the workshop, Introduction to the Enneagram in Wagenhals Hall, Saturday, October 19, 1996 from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

The three presenters were certified to teach the ENNEAGRAM BASICS workshop in August 1991 and have presented sessions for IPFW, the Recovery Room Staff of Parkview Hospital, Fort Wayne Community Schools, the Allen County Public Library, Unity Church, Canterbury School, and the Indiana Library Federation.

Completion of Introduction to the Enneagram is a prerequisite for attending upcoming advanced enneagram seminars.

The workshop begins with registration at 8:30 a.m., accompanied by a continental breakfast. The session runs from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. A box lunch will be provided at noon; the workshop concludes at 6:00 p.m.

To register for the workshop, please fill out the form at the top of the page and send to Trinity.

(Note: An advanced seminar, enneagram: PASSIONS, presented by Maria Beesing, will be November 16, from 9:00 a.m.-6:00 p.m. at Trinity.)

Dear Carol,

I got your e-mail address from Tena Schroeder. She suggested you may have some information on Curtis Berryman who was married to Helen Schneider. My husband's line is from Curtis Berryman of Fremont, Ohio. I don't know if this is the same one, but he had several wives and that makes the search quite challenging.

Our Curtis Berryman was born in Kentucky (1896) and died in Fremont 1959), Ohio. Curtis was the son of Peter and Sally Kindred Berryman. I realize you are researching the other side of the family, but I thought it was possible that you may have some information. Thank you.....Patricia Berryman, Oregon, OH

Purple Heart To Glenn Berryman

Pfc. Glenn V. Berryman, of Fremont, has been awarded the Purple Heart as a result of wounds he received while in action on New Georgia Island on July 18, 1943, according to a letter his mother, Mrs. Dolores Berryman, R. F. D. 5, has received from Admiral W. F. Halsey.

Pfc. Berryman is but 18 and is one of the youngest soldiers to receive the honor. He enlisted in Company B, Ohio National Guard; when 15 and left here with the unit in October, 1940. He has been overseas since 1941.

News of the honor bestowed on her son was very cheering to Mrs. Berryman, who is ill, as was the arrival home of another son. Pfc. Willis Whittaker, on leave from Fort Dix, N. J.

Home On Furlough

A welcome figure stepped off a bus in front of the Lawrence Grubb home, R. F. D. 5, Fremont, Thursday morning- Pfc. Glenn Berryman, wounded soldier, who came home on a 30-day furlough to visit his mother, Mrs. Dolores Berryman, and his sister, Mrs. Grubb.

Glenn's left leg is in a cast because last July 13th a Jap bullet crashed into the knee joint during the battle of Munda.

Late in October, the 18-year-old veteran, who saw well over a year's service in the Southwest Pacific, was sent back to the United States to the O'Reilly General hospital, Springfield, Mo. He will return to the hospital at the end of his furlough.

The family is mighty happy over Glenn's arrival, because it is the first time they have had a real chance to visit with him for two years.

Berryman Will Take OPA Post

Appointment of Glenn D. Berryman veteran of Company B, 148th infantry, as a clerk in the Sandusky county price control office was announced Wednesday by Joe Messinger, board chairman.

Berryman will start to work Monday succeeding Victor LeGrand, who has resigned to accept employment in Findlay. LeGrand, also a war veteran, has been granted his release by OPA.

The new clerk was wounded in fighting in the New Georgia campaign. He also saw service in the Fijis and Guadalcanal.

Marian Momence Is Married To Glenn Berryman

MARIAN MOMENEE wore an ivory satin gown for her marriage to Glenn V. Berryman this morning in St. Ignatius Church, Momenectown. The gown had a scalloped neckline, embroidered with seed pearls, and skirt of unpressed pleats. A pearl tiara held a fingertip veil.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Momence, Corduroy Rd., are parents of the bride. The Rev. Albert J. Bishop officiated.

Mrs. Albert J. Ondrus, matron of honor, wore shrimp pink taffeta moire. Barbara Henninger, in amber, and Eleanor Koester, in blue, were bridesmaids. Judy Hanus and Judy Cedoz were flower girls. James Grubb, Fremont, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Howard Roe was best man. The bride's twin brothers, James and Joseph Momence ushered.

A dinner and evening reception will be held at the Bay Shore Supper Club.

Arthur A. LaGrand and Helen G. LaGrand
326 E. Woodland Avenue
Fort Wayne, Indiana

Dear Mr. and Mrs. LaGrand:

Re: Loan No. 65371

You will find attached hereto pass book, amortization schedule and a supply of envelopes for your convenience in remitting your payments to this office. Your first monthly payment becomes due November 1, 1949 in the amount of $46.41 made up of the following:

Principal and interest	$40.51
Tax deposit	5.90
	$46.41

We have contacted the assessor's office relative to the assessment on this property and find that they have assessed the lot for $300.00 and the building at $1,700.00 which is a partial assessment only. This makes a total assessment of $2,000.00 with the tax rate being $35.40 per $1,000.00, making the year's taxes on this basis $70.80. One-twelfth of this amount is $5.90, the amount of your monthly deposit. We wish to advise that when the total assessment is made on the land and the completed buildings, then it follows that your tax deposit will be increased.

We wish to confirm the fact that your real estate taxes which become due in the Spring of 1950 and subsequent years will be paid from this office, but it will be your obligation to pay your personal and poll taxes.

We also wish to advise that annually, prior to May 1, it will be your obligation to file your mortgage exemption blank in the Auditor's office of the Court House. s died of blunt force trauma, said Dr. E. Jon Brandenberger, Allen County coroner. He is waiting to rule on her death pending further investigation is completed, he said.

Paramedics pronounced her dead near the Runnion Avenue restaurant where medical workers were called at 12:10 a.m. Saturday, police said.

The couple had been arguing and Amber Baker tried to get away from Joseph Baker by getting into the car with her friend on West Cook Road, according to the affidavit.

However, Joseph Baker jumped into the car before she and her friend could drive away, the friend told detectives. Amber Baker was crying and telling her husband that she loved him, the friend reported. Then he began choking her, according to the affidavit.

Then the friend noticed the dome light had clicked on, and Joseph Baker told her that Amber Baker had jumped from the car, she told detectives.

The friend stopped the car, Joseph Baker picked his wife up and put her back into the car, when her friend noticed how badly she was hurt, according to the affidavit.

She drove to the pizza restaurant in hopes that Joseph Baker's brother "could talk some sense into him," according to the affidavit. His brother works at the restaurant.

Joseph Baker had recently been released from jail after he was sentenced to serve two years of a four-year prison term in October 2000 for probation violation. He was placed on probation after being convicted of felony battery in February 2000.

The conviction stems from a battery of Amber Baker.

FWCS board defeats drug-testing proposal

By Mike Gruss
The Journal Gazette

Claiming that a drug-testing policy would overextend schools, the Fort Wayne Community Schools board killed a proposal Monday that would have allowed schools to test students for drugs at the request of parents.

In June, board members tabled a recommendation from FWCS Superintendent Thomas Fowler-Finn to implement a free testing program, largely because they were concerned the results would not remain confidential.

Although school officials changed the proposal since the last meeting, and specifically addressed privacy concerns, Fowler-Finn said Monday that board decorum prohibits presenting the revised proposal.

But even with the changes, board members were not convinced the district should begin drug testing.

Don Schaab, Carl Johnson and Jon Olinger voted against the proposal. Steve Corona and Jerry Henry supported the idea. Board members Carol Coen and Bettye Poignard were not at Monday's meeting.

"I didn't think we needed to take on an additional burden," Schaab said.

Under Fowler-Finn's proposal, hair-sampling kits and a list of community agencies that help families cope with drug problems would have been available from the nurse at each school. Results of drug tests would go directly to parents, not to the school or the school district.

FWCS administrators would receive reports on districtwide drug use, but individual students would not be identified.

Each drug test would cost about $50 and would have helped administrators get a better idea about drug use throughout the district. The tests would be paid for with a state grant.

Henry said schools already feed hungry children, provide glasses and supply hearing aids. A drug test at the request of parents follows a similar philosophy, he said.

Developmental center still closing

Residents are being moved out of Muscatatuck.

From The Associated Press

Gov. Frank O'Bannon will likely miss a June 2003 deadline for closing the Muscatatuck State Developmental Center in southern Indiana, but his administration remains determined to move residents to new homes.

State officials are pressing ahead with plans to close Muscatatuck, despite court rulings and a new law that gives family members power to veto new placements for residents.

A new closing date has not been determined. "It's gotten a little complicated," said Andrew Stoner, deputy press secretary for O'Bannon.

The state's Division of Disability, Aging and Rehabilitative Services is working with about 100 of Muscatatuck's 194 remaining residents to find appropriate treatment services in community-based settings, including group homes and assisted-living apartments.

Most of those residents are profoundly mentally retarded, and many also suffer other serious health problems.

Steve Cook, director of the disability divi-

O'Bannon: Not expected to make closing deadline

sion, said about 30 residents could move to new homes by September. About 70 more are in the planning stages for a move.

Remaining residents are not yet involved in the planning because their families oppose moving them from the center, Cook said.

Those families have been emboldened by recent court and legislative decisions that give them more authority to keep their loved ones at Muscatatuck.

Jackson County Circuit Judge William Vance ruled in April the state cannot move residents from Muscatatuck without written approval from their guardians. The ruling also prohibits the state from reducing staff.

State officials have preserved their right to appeal the decision but have not yet done so.

Meanwhile, the General Assembly overrode O'Bannon's veto of a bill that gives families more power to decide when and whether Muscatatuck residents are moved.

"People are understanding that they do some rights," said Frank Migliano, president of the Muscatatuck Association for Retarded Citizens and the father of a resident. "They can't make them do anything."

Under pressure from Senate Republicans, O'Bannon announced last year he would close Muscatatuck by June 2003 and move the residents elsewhere.

John Dickerson, executive director of the Indiana, an advocacy group, supported the move to serve Muscatatuck residents in the community, instead of in the institution. But he said the timeline was too ambitious.

Recent delays have given the state time to develop transition teams to help families find the most appropriate settings for their loved ones, he said.

"It's a better process now than it was a year ago," Dickerson said.

The delays also mean families have more time to accept what Dickerson believed inevitable: that Muscatatuck will close.

"More families have gone beyond the anger and hostility and started looking at choices," Dickerson said.

FWCS board votes against drug-testing

Schools' priority is educating students, member says.

By Tracy Turner
tturner@news-sentinel.com

While board members defeated a controversial drug-testing plan proposed by the head of Fort Wayne Community Schools, at least one member said Monday's vote was not a negative reflection on the superintendent's leadership.

The board voted 3-2 against a plan proposed by Superintendent

Thomas Fowler-Finn that would have allowed parents to request that their children be tested for drugs at school.

The plan called for hair samples to be taken from their child at school in the parents' presence, with the strand sent to an independent lab for testing. The results would have been given to the parents, who would decide whether to tell school officials the outcome.

"This vote does not reflect on the superintendent," board member Jon Olinger said. "He has done a good job; this is not a vote against the superintendent."

Citing his belief parents have other options such as social service agencies for drug-testing and counseling alternatives, board member Donald Schaab said he was against the policy because the schools' priority was the education of the district's 31,000 students.

"Drug-testing should not be an issue," Schaab said. "We are not a social service agency, ... we are about education."

In a revised plan, Fowler-Finn created guidelines that would prevent parents from inadvertently revealing their child's positive test results that could lead to suspension or expulsion.

Board members had objected to the original plan, which was presented in June, citing concerns with the test and whether parents would understand the implications of their decision.

Despite the changes - and increased lobbying efforts by Fowler-Finn - FWCS board members Olinger, Johnson, Olinger and Schaab voted against the measure, with Ite Poignard and Carol Coen voting for it. Board president St. Henry and board president St. Corona voted for the measure.

Argument about girlfriend may have resulted in fatal shooting

Formal charges have not been filed.

From staff reports

A man killed Sunday may have argued with his attacker before he was shot, according to court records released Monday.

Formal charges have not yet been filed against 19-year-old Shane Douglas in connection with the early Sunday shooting of 22-year-old Austin M. Sheets.

Douglas was outside his home at 916 Rockcliff Court shortly before 1 a.m. when Sheets and his girlfriend drove up.

The two men began arguing outside the home, and the homeowner told Sheets to leave, but he refused, according to the probable cause affidavit.

Sheets went to his car to retrieve something, then began walking toward Douglas. Douglas grabbed a shotgun that was between a truck and car parked in the driveway and opened fire. Sheets slumped to the ground, and Douglas dropped the gun and went inside and called 911, the affidavit said.

Allen County Sheriff's officers found Sheets face down in the grass next to a driveway.

Sheets was shot four or five times, the fatal bullet entering his neck, the Allen County Coroner's Office said Monday in ruling the death a homicide.

Douglas, whom Allen County Sheriff's officers arrested around 5:30 a.m. Sunday, is being held in Allen County Jail on preliminary charges of aggravated battery. He was released Sunday on $10,000 bond, but was returned to custody Monday after his bond was increased to $250,000.

While the Sheriff's Department is still trying to determine the motive for the shooting, Cynthia Schmieman, who has lived on Rockcliff for 17 years, said neither she nor her sons knew the victim but said Douglas' family told them the shooting was during a fight over a girlfriend.

Neighbor Susan Jackson said there had been other problems in the neighborhood, particularly at Douglas' Rockcliff Court home.

Animal Control officers have visited the address several times, and sheriff's officers patrolled often, she said.

Sheriff's deputies have been called to the Pheasant Run neighborhood in the past, Officer Victor Hopkins said, but not to the address where Sheets' body was found.

The Prosecutor's Office has until Thursday morning to file formal charges against Douglas.

Sheets' death is the county's 11th this year, and the second outside the city limits. Last week, felony murder charges were filed against 28-year-old Donald G. Staker, in connection with the death of Jacob S. Bell.

According to court records, Staker, Bell and Bell's mother, Yvonne Kantor, plotted to burn down Kantor and Bell's home at 4018 Philley Ave., near Wayne Trace.

Staker told investigators Bell used too much gasoline to start the blaze and the home exploded. The Coroner's Office said Bell died of asphyxiation, and ruled his death a homicide.

Along with murder, Staker faces multiple arson charges. Kantor is also charged with arson, but has not yet been arrested.

Smith Field backers say vote to close airport not valid, want another vote

By Kevin Leininger
kleininger@news-sentinel.com

Arguing that last month's decision to close Smith Field was not valid under state law, a group trying to keep the airport open said Monday it wants the Fort Wayne-Allen County Airport Authority to vote again.

David DeWald, a member of Smith Airfield ForEver, or SAFE, believes closing the north-side airport would require passage of an ordinance - something the airport authority did not do when it voted 4-2 last month to close Smith Field next July. For that reason, he and other SAFE members argue, the facility cannot be closed without another vote - a vote, they hope, that will occur after the makeup of the authority changes in their favor.

The term of Charles Henry, who voted to close Smith Field, expired at the end of June and the Allen County Commissioners have 90 days from that date to reappoint him or name a replacement. SAFE wants commissioners to appoint a new board member who will vote to keep open the airport.

That would be significant, because future closure efforts would require the majority of the six-member board: four votes. The commissioners have not said whether they will reappoint Henry.

SAFE's position is based in part on advice from Mitch Harper, president of Taxpayers Research Association, who as a state legislator in the 1980s helped draft the laws governing airports. DeWald, however, could not cite an Indiana law that explicitly requires passage of the ordinance. The state statute governing airports, in fact, appears to be silent on the matter. It says only the authority "may" enact an ordinance should it decide to sell Smith Field for redevelopment - something airport Executive Director Skip Miller said it would do should the board decide a sale is in order.

Miller would not comment on SAFE's request for a new vote other than to say he is eager to "see how they can substantiate their claim" that the original closure vote was insufficient.

Passage of an ordinance, SAFE members said, would require a hearing where the public would by law be given the opportunity to speak - something that was not allowed when the board voted to close the airport. Residents deserve the chance, they said - which is why SAFE intends to circulate petitions in hope of collecting signatures in support from thousands of people who want to keep Smith Field open.

Footprints in the Sand

I dreamed I was walking along the beach with the Lord and across the sky flashed scenes from my life. For each scene I noticed two sets of footprints in the sand; one belonged to me and the other to the Lord.

When the last scene of my life flashed before us, I looked back at the footprints in the sand. I noticed, that many times along the path of my life, there was only one set of footprints. I also noticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in my life. This really bothered me and I questioned the Lord about it.

"Lord, You said that once I decided to follow You, You would walk with me all the way, but I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life, there is only one set of footprints. I don't understand why in times when I needed you most, you should leave me."

The Lord replied, "My precious, precious child, I love you and I would never, never leave you during your times of trial and suffering. When you saw only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you."

Survey finds most unhappy with their jobs

From staff and news services

Even in a tough labor market, job satisfaction among employed U.S. workers has hit a record low, a survey by a private research group shows.

Less than half of American workers, 48.9 percent, say they are satisfied with their jobs, the lowest level of job satisfaction since the survey was begun in 1995.

The survey sampled 5,000 households in July.

"The level of job satisfaction has been steadily on the decline since reaching nearly 59 percent in 1995," said Lynn Franco, director of the Conference Board's Consumer Research Center.

"As technology transforms the workplace – accelerating the pace of activities, increasing expectations and productivity demands, and blurring the lines of work and play – workers are steadily growing more unhappy with their jobs," the board said last week.

Keystone RV adding 120 workers in Goshen

Keystone RV Co. said its plan to hire 120 more workers in an ongoing expansion in Goshen of its travel trailer business is backed up by continuing strong demand and sales growth.

Keystone, one of several recreational vehicle companies in northern Indiana's Elkhart County, has opened four plants in Goshen's Maple City Industrial Park in the last year. Its latest expansion is a plant scheduled to open in January that will employ 120.

The new plant will meet Keystone's need for

Dear Florence & Warren,

Do hope this note finds you both well and happy.

I thought you might want to read the enclosed clipping.
There is a Don Everett that lives around the corner from me, but I don't know if that is her son.

Do stop and see me
wherever you are in the area.

I've been kept busy with my shop and church work, plus my family history.

Love,

Dollie

Former Resident Dies

Chas. Schneider, 76, a former resident in this community died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. A. LeGrande, in Fremont, where he was visiting, Tuesday afternoon after a short illness with pneumonia.

Mr. Schneider retired from his farm, two miles east of Elmore, in 1917, and took up his residence in Fremont. For sometime he has been spending the winters in Florida.

He was born near Hessville, Ohio, and had always lived in this community.

He leaves besides his wife two daughters, Mrs. A. A. LeGrande and Mrs. Bertha Mincer of Fremont, and a son, Emery Schneider, also of Fremont.

Funeral services are being held this Friday afternoon in the Hessville Lutheran Church. Burial will be made in Union cemetery here.

Retired Farmer and Oil Worker Is Pneumonia

Victim

Charles W. Schneider, 76, well known retired farmer and oil pumper, died Tuesday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock at the apartments of his daughter, Mrs. Arthur A. LeGrand, Berger block, 218 1-2 Arch street, following a week's illness.

Death was due to lobar pneumonia which developed within a short time after he was forced to take to his bed a week ago Tuesday suffering from a severe cold. He had been ill with a cold for several days previous to that time.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon with brief services at 1 o'clock from the home of Philip Schneider, 1410 Liberty street, a brother, and services at 2 o'clock from the Hessville Lutheran church in Hessville. Burial will be in the Elmore cemetery.

The remains were taken to the home of the brother Wednesday afternoon from the Henry Burman funeral parlors in Elmore where the body was taken for burial preparation following death.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Stevanna Burkett Schneider; two daughters, Mrs. William Mincer and Mrs. Arthur A. LeGrand; one son, Emery A. Schneider, all of Fremont; three brothers, Philip Schneider, Fremont; Louis Schneider of Washington township, and Christian Schneider of Hessville; two sisters, Mrs. Sophia Graham of Bradner, and Mrs. Lissie Reed of Sandusky; 15 grandchildren and a large number of other more distant relatives and hosts of friends. One son Parry who was a member of Co. B, 307th Supply Train, died in November, 1918, while in service in France during the World War.

Mr. Schneider and wife and Mr. and Mrs. LeGrand returned May 13 from a six months' stay at Orlando, Florida, where they had spent the winters for the past 11 years. He appeared to be in his usual good health and news of the death of this well known man following the brief illness came as a severe shock to his many relatives and large circle of friends.

The deceased was a native of Washington township where he was born Nov. 3, 1856, the son of Christian and Sophia Strach Schneider, pioneer residents of the township. He engaged in farming and was also an oil pumper for 20 years for the Paragon Oil Company in the Washington township field where he pumped wells on his own property and adjoining leases.

He was united in marriage March 23, 1882, to Miss Stevanna Burkett by the late Rev. Puppin in Hessville. The couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary March 23, 1932, at Orlando, Fla., where they were spending the winter with a gathering of relatives and friends.

In the fall of 1917 Mr. Schneider retired from the farm and moved to Fremont where he had since resided with the exception of the winter months which he spent in Florida. During the World War he served as janitor at the Atkinson school. He was a member of the Hessville Lutheran church and attended the Grace Lutheran church, Fremont, after his removal here.

FORMER ELMORE MAN

DIES IN FREMONT

20-1933

The body of Charles W. Schneider, 76, will be brought to Union cemetery here for interment Friday afternoon, following last rites in Hessville Lutheran church at 2 o'clock. H. E. Burmann, Elmore mortician, was called to Fremont to take charge of the body after death, Tuesday afternoon.

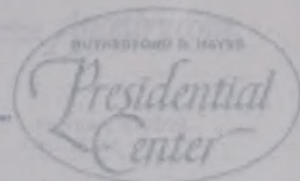

Mr. Schneider, retired farmer and oil pumper well known in this vicinity, died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. LeGrand, of Fremont, following a week's illness of pneumonia. Only a few weeks ago Mr. Schneider and his wife and their daughter, Mrs. LeGrand, and husband returned from their winter sojourn at Orlando Beach, Florida, and as he had seemed to be in his usual good health, his sudden death was a great shock to his relatives and friends. Besides his widow, a son, Emery A., and two daughters survive: Mrs. LeGrand and Mrs. Wm. Mincer, all of Fremont; one son, Perry, died in France in 1918, while in World War service. The Schneider family formerly lived about three miles southeast of Elmore.

Dollie Baukus

By Jill M. Fick

It wasn't so very long ago that the phrase "senior citizen" was synonymous with rocking chairs and gray-haired people. But individuals like Dollie Baukus put that stereotype to rest. Sure, this 70-year-old Fremont resident has gray hair, but a rocking chair is definitely not her style.

Saying that Dollie is active may be somewhat of an understatement. She has two children, three grandchildren, and a couple of "hobbies". It's the latter that makes Dollie Baukus a very busy lady.

Years ago, Dollie entered the hobby world with stamp collecting. But stamps soon gave way to ceramics and ever since then, each new hobby has brought her joy and her share of business.

"After I was in it (ceramics) a year or so, the woman I took lessons from asked me to teach it. She and I went to seminars together and it got to the point I was learning more than she was, because she didn't take time," she explained.

So Dollie's hobby developed into a business in which, at one point, she had about 200 students visiting her West Birchard Avenue shop to learn ceramics. According to Dollie, who has taught ceramics for 27 years, there is no special talent needed to do ceramics, although patience is a definite plus. She has taught people from every walk of life including a man who was going blind and a young boy in a wheelchair.

Eventually, Dollie felt the need to cut back.

"I gradually dropped. Before my husband died (a couple of years ago), he wanted me to drop out entirely and I started to. And then he died very suddenly. So now, it's a help," she explained.

At about the same time the ceramics business was booming, Dollie was also beginning to collect dolls. When a local woman who repaired the dolls became sick, Dollie began doing it herself. The woman referred customers to her and suddenly another of Dollie's hobbies blossomed into a business.

"So now instead of ceramics, I have more of a doll business. It's not a business where you make a living but it helps to supplement my Social Security," she said.

Dollie has performed near miracles on many of the antique dolls she has repaired, as evidenced by before and after pictures. Many were broken into small pieces, some were damaged by fire and smoke, and some were simply missing pieces. But no matter the amount of damage or the material with which the doll was made, Dollie has always been up to the task. Among her extensive collection of antique dolls, Dollie's favorite is one with sentimental value.

"The one doll I have, I bought from an old friend. It was her doll. She's in her 80's and she wanted somebody that she knew to have the doll. And I got it. It's a beautiful, old doll. I've had several chances to sell it but I won't do it," she said.

About ten years ago, Dollie began learning to sculpture dolls. That skill has led her to one of her current projects - the creation of Rutherford B. Hayes and Lucy Webb Hayes dolls. The dolls, which have been patterned after the famous couple at the time of their wedding, have taken a lot of time and research.

"They looked entirely different when they got married than they did later in life. He didn't have a beard and of course they were both young. I eventually want to give them to the Presidential Center because they helped me research their clothes and that," she said.

Just as Dollie is not one to sit still, so are her interests ever-changing. The years of involvement with ceramics and dolls have taken a toll on Dollie and both are losing their appeal.

"I've been at it (ceramics) since 1960 and let's face it, I'm getting burned out. So I gave up my license a few years ago but the girls asked me to stay on and open it up for them. It's sort of like a club now. They're all friends. Now, I'm giving up doll collecting because I'm getting saturated with it," Dollie explained.

She then added, "Teaching ceramics took the joy out of ceramics. You get fed up, you do too much. Now doll repair has taken the joy out of collecting. I still enjoy doing the dolls, but not as much."

Then there was a twinkle in her eye and a smile on her face as she explained the new love in her life.

According to Dollie, finding one's roots is not as hard as it may seem and it is a wonderful way to study history. Anyone from the Fremont area can begin their search at the Hayes Presidential Center. In other places, every big library has information for

She then added this bit of advice. "If anybody becomes a widow or their partner dies, and they don't know what to do, there's no excuse to sit around watching TV all the time. There are always things to be done. I do think that when you sit at home alone, you think of how you ache in the heart and in the muscle, in the back. I think if you keep busy you forget about it."

DOLLIE BAUKUS with one of the six thick books of genealogical research she has compiled over the years.

Joy blossoms as she digs up her roots

By LORI NOERNBERG

Staff Writer

It was the summer of 1930, between the sixth and seventh grade, when Dollie Schneider first became interested in genealogy through her maternal grandmother.

"Grandma hurt her ankle that summer," Dollie said. "And I went to her farm in Pemberville to help."

Dollie spent the long summer days with Grandma Cora Calkins Long at her spacious farmhouse cooking, canning, learning to crochet — and talking for hours around the pot-bellied stove.

"Grandma had a lot of pictures and I would ask who is that? And she would tell me the history of each one," she said.

But it was a letter 10 years ago from distant cousin, Jerome Calkins, that rekindled her interest in family history, 73-year-old Dollie Schneider Baukus said.

"He had a book of records ... of 5,000 people going all the way back to 1638 when Hugh Calkins came over from England."

Recently Dollie discovered she has a direct genealogical line to the Pilgrims, when ancestor Edward Fuller was placed at the signing of the Mayflower Compact in 1621.

The Fremont woman lives a rather quiet life. She makes and repairs dolls, cooks for her son Douglas, takes care of her early American home and is active in St. John Lutheran Church where she has begun researching archives for its coming 150th anniversary celebration.

But her eyes light up when she talks about "kin searching," and shows off a bookshelf crammed with six scrapbooks chock-full of family birth and death certificates, wills, estates, land deeds, letters and military records back to the Revolutionary War.

Past president of the Sandusky County Kin Hunters, Dollie has AVOCATION: Makes and restores dolls and is past president and current member of the Sandusky County Kin Hunters.

How can you trace your family tree?

Genealogy is the study of family descent. One way to learn how to trace your roots is by joining the Sandusky County Kin Hunters.

The group meets the second Sunday of each month at the Sandusky Township House from 2 to 4 p.m., but Dollie opens the doors at 1 p.m., and invites visitors to stop in early.

The Kin Hunters often ask a speaker to lecture, followed by coffee, tea, cookies and socializing.

The Hayes Center is a great resource for information and its staff periodically offers training sessions to guide interested kin hunters through a myriad of clues toward tracing their ancestry.

also been instrumental in helping others trace their roots.

A lot can be discovered just by pouring over old newspapers and microfiche, especially in wedding announcements, death notices — and even murders, she said. Cemeteries are also a great source for researching family history.

"Most folks want to know where they came from," Dollie said.

"It's fascinating," she said. "Like a detective story. When you find a clue, it's like, 'oh, boy,'" said Dollie.

Her most exciting find came with the accidental discovery of ancestors related to her grandmother's great-grandfather, Isaac Martin.

She had accompanied a friend to Cleveland's Western Reserve Historical Society and was just leafing through the Lake County Historical. Monthly when "the pamphlet just fell open at one spot."

That page was a listing of tombstone markers, and one item read: "Mr. Isaac Martin, died Nov. 6, 1832, age 75 years. Soldier of the American Revolution, Marker 1753-1832." Both the age and date of death were wrong on the marker, according to her research.

Nonetheless, from there Dollie knew to search through old military records and soon found the papers Martin had filled out in applying for a pension. The form listed his father, Solomon, and the name of Isaac's children.

Dollie's grandmother, whose mother's maiden name was Martin, did not even know that information — a fact that Dollie admits made this discovery doubly exciting.

Oftentimes a final bit of evidence after a painstaking search comes down to an accidental discovery, coincidence or just plain "gut instinct," she said.

Dollie had heard a rumor that another Martin ancestor was born on the high seas enroute from England to the New Land.

"There were seven or eight books on the Martin families," she said. "I just closed my eyes and pulled down one of them."

And in that book, there it was: A written entry of the birth of a baby on a ship sailing the Atlantic Ocean for America — a boy, christened William Seaborn Martin.

Tracing her family roots wasn't always easy because they traveled some much in search of good farmland.

Her ancestors were farmers, joining several other families who first settled in Woodbury, Conn., packed their belongings and headed west to New York then onto Madison in Lake County, Ohio.

In search of the rich, agricultural farmland of the black swamp, her family settled in Wood County.

Dollie enjoys living vicariously through her ancestors' travels, trials and tribulations, but given the choice, she'd prefer to live in 1991, today.

"I'd rather stay in the generation I am in," Dollie said. "Over my life, I've seen a lot of changes."

"We lived on Taft Street from third grade until the time I graduated from Fremont Ross," she said.

Her parents, four brothers and herself "sat around the dining room table around one oil lamp, maybe two," she said. "When we got electricity, the neighbors thought we were spendthrifts."

One regret is too little time to devote to her labor of love — genealogy.

"My husband used to joke about it," Dollie said. "We would drive past a cemetery and he would say, 'you sure you don't want to stop?'"

"Young people, nowadays, don't care about ancestry," she said. "But as you get older you realize — you are your ancestors."
